VIGG

Design by Arup

A task light for modern workspaces

Vigg is a thoughtfully designed task light, balancing functionality, sustainability, and a discreet aesthetic. Developed in collaboration with Arup, it delivers focused illumination while minimizing glare, making it ideal for both offices and home workspaces.

With an intuitive single-button control and smooth dimming, Vigg ensures effortless usability. To promote energy savings, it automatically turns off after one hour. Built for longevity, it supports our circular initiative, allowing easy servicing and refurbishment.

Compact, efficient, and refined - Vigg is a task light designed for the way we work today.

Technical specifications

Material	Die-casted base and head in zink. Heatzink in die-casted aluminium and steam in partly recycled steel. Baseplate in a mix of cork and rubber in order to get a smooth and protective surface against the table. Black reflector made out of partly recycled plastic.
Installation	Can be tilted upwards up to 90° and downwards to 40° angle. Non-rotatable.
Connection	Supplied with 2m cable 2x0.75 mm² with plug including power supply unit. DC connection on cable for easy upgrade / change of power supply unit.
Light source	Including light source, colour temperature 3000K or 4000K, CRI 90, L90 50 000h.
Light control	Dimmable via push button placed on lamp base. 1h or 4h built in timer meaning that the light automatically turns off after one or four hours to encourage work breaks and energy savings. Choose your timer option at order by specifying the specific article number that you can find in our article list.
Diffuser / Glare control	With the lens we create a perfect balanced focus, a limited and well defined area of light on the desk, while at the same time creating a comfort trough contrast reduction with a black reflector. A black reflector made out of partly recycled plastic.
